

FAQ'S

- Which is the best place to visit in North India?

North India is a hub of amazing places and a few of them include Delhi (capital of India), Agra (place with the majestic Taj Mahal), Varanasi (home to the spiritual seekers), Kashmir (Beautiful natural sight-seeing and snow-capped mountains), Amritsar (iconic Golden Temple), Leh and Ladakh (ultimate holiday retreat for adventure enthusiasts). Not only this, there are a plethora of Hill stations that have an alluring sight and cover all the lush-green landscapes and giant mountains in one picture.

- Which is the most beautiful state in North India?

Jammu and Kashmir is considered as the heaven on Earth. It is a combination of idyllic villages, silent lakes, impressive mountains and valleys. There are a large number of places with historical influence. Besides this, you may find numerous temples and mosques that are quite famous throughout the world.

- Where I can go with my family in North India?

Northern India offers a brilliant package of astonishing landscapes and surreal atmosphere for family vacations. Leh and Srinagar are famous for its scenic beauty and magnificent places like Chang la, Magnetic hill, Pathar Sahib, Gulmarg, Shalimar Bagh, Tulip Valley and shopping markets. Not only this, Dehradun is popular during the winter season due to snow fall and people love to visit, Nainital, Mussoorie, Indian Military Academy etc. Vaishnu Devi, Badrinath and Kedarnath are some of the perfect spiritual places to visit with family.

- What are the famous wild sanctuaries in North India?

North India is not just known for its scenic architectural beauty rather it also has a plethora of mesmerizing wildlife sanctuaries which are a must to visit. Dudhwa National Park is a combination of Kishanpur Wildlife Sanctuary and Katarniaghat Wildlife Sanctuary which is situated in Uttar Pradesh. Not only this, Jim Corbett National Park located in Nainital is one of the most popular wildlife sanctuaries. Sariska Tiger Reserve in Rajasthan is a combination of the Rocky Mountains and majestic Bengal tigers.

- How to reach North India?

North India is well connected with all the major cities via different modes of transport such as air, rail, road. The key airports in Northern India are Chaudhary Charan Singh Airport (Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh), Indira Gandhi International Airport (New Delhi), Jaipur International Airport (Jaipur, Rajasthan), Sri Guru Ram Dass Jee International Airport (Amritsar, Punjab). While, a good network of roads classified as State Highways, National Highways and local trains enable bus and car facilities. Moreover, railways are an excellent option to enjoy convenience in travelling. complete Info.

- How many festivals are celebrated in North India?

The Kumbh Mela of Allahabad, Pushkar Mela of Pushkar, Desert Festival in Jaisalmer, Rann Utsav of Gujarat are some of the interesting festivals celebrated in North India. Moreover, The Phulaich Festival of Himachal Pradesh is an interesting Festival wherein the Rajput's show their respect and regards to the great ancestors and distribute things to the poor. Also, Mata Murti Ka Mela is the most awaited festival celebrated to worship the mother of Badrinath zealously. Magh Mela of Uttar Pradesh and Nagaur Fair of Jodhpur adds fuel to the authentic culture of North India. Taj Mahotsav is a global heritage art festival wherein art pieces are exhibited along with grand celebration in the Taj Mahal, Agra.

- Which is the best city in North India?

North India is full of adventurous nightlife and rich heritage cultural events. Moreover, any city you visit is the best depending upon your taste and preferences in traveling yet Jaipur (ancient forts and heritage), Bhopal (the city of lakes), Dehradun (foothills of Himalayas), Chandigarh (world's second most planned city) are some of the most captivating cities to go for a vacation.

- Is North India safe for tourists?

Safety has always been an issue in all the countries and India is no such exception especially in context to New Delhi. So, it is advisable for the tourists to take care of their belongings while travelling and go for a professional tourist guide in case you wish to spend your vacation well. Also, try not to talk much to strangers. Do not travel alone at night and stay away from those hotels that do not offer a locked facility for protection and privacy.

- Which are the best places in North India to visit during summer?

North India is famous for its rich beauty of historical monuments and lovely places such as Srinagar, Mount Abu, Ladakh, Manali, Rishikesh, Kashmir, Kasol, Mussoorie, Dehradun and many more. The Golden Temple situated in the holy city of Amritsar has the huge tourist during the months of May till July and November till January. The Qutub Minar in New Delhi and The Taj Mahal of Agra are the two most spectacular monuments of ancient art and architecture that reflects the true beauty of love and history of the past in India.

- Which are the best hill station in North India?

There are quite a number of hill stations that are renowned around the world:

- Manali: It is considered as the top honeymoon destination throughout the country. The snow-capped mountains are the main feature of this place.
- Mussoorie: This is another location brimmed with amazing natural beauty and has a large number of tourist attractions.
- Nainital: This place is an epitome of peace and greenery. People visit here to have a great experience in the Naini Lake and hills.

- What is the famous food of North India?

The spicy dishes of the Punjabis are a must to taste. Chicken tikka, Chole Bhathure, Amritsari Kulcha, Aloo Samosa, Dahi Bhalla, Makki di Roti and Sarso ka Saag, Nihari Gosht, Rajasthani Laal Maas and many more. Not only this, there are a number of sweet dishes that have a unique mouth-watering taste such as Malai kulfi, Jalebi, Gajar ka Halwa, Lassi, Gulab Jamun and many more. Despite these meals and dishes, there are a number of street food dishes as well like Gol Gappe, Chaat, Momos, Tikki, etc.

- What are the famous temple of North India?

Family vacations would be incomplete without visiting the famous temples of a particular location. If you are planning to visit a holy place during your vacation then you can visit Sri Lakshmi Narayan Mandir, Akshardham, Yogmaya temple, Kali temple, Shri Adi Shakti Maa Jhandewali temple, Sri Kalka Ji temple or Shree AdyaKaryayniShaktipeeth Mandir which are all situated in New Delhi. Moreover, If you are going to a hilly place like Uttarakhand, then you can go to Gangotri temple, Badrinath temple, Yamunotri temple in Uttarakhand.

- Which is the best time to visit North India?

In case you are planning to go to North India to spend your vacations then the perfect time and weather would be between September to March. The temperature conditions vary from 25C to as low as 5C. Places like Kullu, Manali, Taj Mahal, Nainital, Golden Temple can be visited during November to March while if you are going further to Srinagar or Leh Ladakh then, April to August are the perfect timings.

- What are the things to do in North India?

In case you are visiting Srinagar, Uttarakhand, Himachal Pradesh or Leh, then you can enjoy skiing, Trekking, River Rafting, Mountain Biking, Camel Safaris, Polo, Archery, Jeep Safari, Zorbing, Heli-Skiing and many more. Whereas if you are visiting Punjab, Uttar Pradesh and Rajasthan then you can go for shopping traditional juttis, dupattas, majoris and handicraft items. You can also go for camel and elephant safari in Pushkar while enjoying sailing, boating, rowing and canoeing in Uttar Pradesh.

- What are the main food of North India?

North India has a strong Asian taste with spicy meals and tons of ingredients. Kashmiri and Mughlai cuisines were brought by the Mughals and Kashmiri ancestors. Thick creamy gravies are a must in most of the dishes with reference to the spicy vegetable combination. Mutton and chicken are quite famous in this regard. Also, North is a home for fluffy parathas, buttery naans, and tandoori roti. Makki di roti and Sarso ka Saag is a famous Punjabi dish.